eBridge is now eBay certified!

BURLINGTON, Ontario (October 30, 2008) – eBRIDGE Software announced today that its SalesAmigo and ePortal SAAS web applications have been certified by eBay. This certification enables us to process over 1.5 million eBay transactions per day.

SalesAmigo is the online service that seamlessly imports eBay orders and posts them into the popular QuickBooks accounting system. For Web Store owners, that means no more manual inputting – no more data entry errors, incorrect shipments, sales returns, or time-consuming labour costs. SalesAmigo takes the ‘pain’ out of order processing.

“eBay certification enables us to continue to deliver unlimited transactions to webstore owners at no additional cost to them,” explains eBRIDGE CEO Colin Brown. “Gaining recognition by the eBay team for our value-added service is another milestone on our path to changing the Integration as a Service (IaaS) market.”

Our ePortal and SalesAmigo software as a service ensures a smooth and error-proof data entry process. eBay store account activity is monitored by the eBridge ePortal on a continuous basis. Once an order is placed it is picked up by ePortal. The SalesAmigo application then takes the order and integrates the data into QuickBooks with no additional work required. Integration into QuickBooks can be scheduled in or performed on command.
