

eBridge Software Releases New Nexternal-ePortal Connector Application

Application allows users to integrate Nexternal ecommerce web orders and update inventory automatically into over 37 major accounting packages.

BURLINGTON, Ontario (October 22, 2009) – eBRIDGE Software announced today that it has released a new connector application that will allow Nexternal webstore owners to integrate data to over 37 accounting packages including Sage, Microsoft, Intuit, SAP Business One and more.

This new composite application by eBridge will allow users to further streamline their data input and order generation. The user can either manually or automatically, on a user defined daily schedule, transfers Nexternal Opportunities; generate sales orders, and transfer account and contact information into their accounting system. The user can either manually or automatically, on a user defined daily schedule, transfers Nexternal Orders; generate sales orders, and transfer account and contact information into their accounting system. Users can also send Inventory updates to their Nexternal webstore.

“eBridge remains committed to being the leader in providing quality integration solutions and this new application is another step in that direction.” said Colin Brown, President and CEO at eBridge Software. This new application will benefit the users in a host of different ways. Efficiencies are gained in account and contact management through an automated process, improved order management, and the elimination of duplicate data entry between the accounting system and Nexternal. This composite application is compatible with all 35 accounting packages currently supported by eBridge, including Sage MAS 90, MAS 200, MAS 500, Microsoft Dynamics, Intuit and SAP.
